Subject: PJAS Judging Information

Good Evening,

PJAS is in search of judges for the Region 7 Competition. If you have a science, math, computer or engineering background, please consider volunteering as a PJAS judge. If you have judged for the competition in the past, we appreciate your past service and hope that you join us again. By volunteering you will support the work of hundreds of Middle and High School students around the region. To learn more about the responsibilities of a judge, refer to the PJAS Judging Short Course document on the PJAS website.

Event: Region 7 Pennsylvania Junior Academy of Science Regional Competition

Date: Saturday, February 1, 2020

Location: Duquesne University

To register as a judge go to <https://www.pjasregistration.com>. Click on the Register Judge link at the top left of the page, and proceed to the registration site. You will need to select Region 7 from the first drop down box. You will be prompted to add contact information, choose categories for judging, and availability (AM, PM, or both sessions).

Registration is open until Friday, January 24th.

Closer to the date of the competition, registered judges will receive information about an online orientation session, as well as more information about the day of the competition.

Feel free to contact us with any questions.
